10:30-11:30

Enhancing the Classroom Experience through Social Media

By exploring the phenomena of social media, Laura and George will present Blackboard's communication tools through the lens of how to exploit the affordances of social media for your students and why it is important. (Laura Martin and George Andreadis) LL226

Lessons from the Front Line Having just concluded her first blended course for the C.W. Post Nursing department this semester, Tricia observed some interesting differences between student participation in a blended course, a fully online course and a traditional f2f course. Explore with Tricia how she plans to assimilate her front-line lessons into the Blackboard course and her methods for teaching. (Tricia Hinchman) LL230

[New and Mobile in Blackboard] Interested in exploring more in depth what's new and cool with Blackboard? Join Dev and colleagues for a hands-on discussion of Mobile Learn with a broad brush stroke discussion of what Blackboard Learn 9.1 can afford your students. (Devabrata Mondal) LL229

11:30-12:30

Engagement Assessment/Assessment Engagement

Blackboard provides so many ways for assessing student progress and participation. Not sure where to start? Join your Brooklyn colleagues for insight into ways they assess student progress in a CMS and Blackboard in particular. (Amy Ginsberg, [to be confirmed], Monique Howard) LL226

Creating Course Content Collaboratively (Working with Content Collection and Wikis) Camille Karlson, Coordinator of Online

Instruction and Associate Dean at St. Josephs College, will present her experiences of a technology-infused solution to scattered documents and unnecessary redundancy. LL229

Digital Portfolio Explore how Blackboard's digital portfolio tool may be used by courses and by programs for student assessment. (Tricia Hinchman and Norm Sutaria) LL230

12:30-1:30 Lunch in Library Hutchin's Gallery

1:30-2:45 Web Conferencing Usability Testing (Elluminate, Adobe Connect Pro and Wimba) Help us test drive these three products – Elluminate, Adobe Connect Pro and Wimba as web conferencing vehicles that may be configured into Blackboard. Coached by inveterate pros who have used web-conferencing instructionally, this quick and fun session will inspire ideas for synchronous yet distant class activities. (Bette Schneiderman, Michael Byrne, Nancy Lemberger, Helaine Marshall, [others to be confirmed]) LL 226, 227, 229, 230

3-4:15 Acrobat Presenter is another tool we invite you test while mashing up voice, documents and presentations. We will help you self select one of two choices for the novice and expert.

Novice: Provide feedback to student work using audio comments embedded into a document. (Jason Pistorino and colleagues) LL227

Advanced: On the fly, convert a PPT into a narrated "podcast" (Devabrata Mondal and colleagues) LL229

4:30-5 Closing (Library Hutchins Gallery)
