"I can play and wrestle with my son, go outside, blow bubbles, anything else a young mom would want to do with their child. Just look at our family...we're living proof that organ and tissue donation works."

"I can do what I want now. I'm back in life, not on the sidelines."

"Since I had a transplant, I can go to the park with my family, I can shoot basketball, so many things I can do. We lost a lot of time... I hope that I can make that time up."

"I'm just like any other regular high school kid - just like to do a lot of things with my friends. I think people should become a donor because it gives someone else their life back."
